“ My brother Warren S. Moore.
I am now ready to view this site. I still can't believe you are gone.
I followed you where you went. You where my protector ❤️ you did protected me to the end. I was on my way back to you. And I got the difficult call. and I loved you so. Even when we bumped heads. I also did what you said. You taught me the true meaning of a real woman. I miss you so so much. Sending my love to the family ❤️.
Wish you were here. Very glad I was able to kiss you, rub your feet and back. You telling me what car to get.
You where at Peace knowing you were loved. Always and Forever..Bye Rickey..

“ I played basketball with Warren at Lincoln College in Lincoln, Illinois. I loved this dude. He was a beast on the court and growled when he cleared the boards. We won 26 games that year and finished 4th in the State. We also had a singing group called the Fantastic Five and Warren sang a smooth baritone. Towards the end of his life we reconnected and talked on the phone and prayed together. Every week he would send me a prayer messsge, Thank you for the awesome memories bro, My prayers are with the family.
